nineteen hundred fifty eight

L. HOWARD FOX

This tribute is based on a man's devotion to an idea and the foresight to make that idea materialize. The idea is a building, a Memorial Auditorium to serve as a house and showplace of the Arts.

We the class of nineteen hundred fifty-eight dedicate this book to L. Howard Fox.

An artist with emotions to describe, paints an impressionistic picture; each slash of color, each curve of the brush is devoted to the idea, the theme, the emotion.

The yearbook is an impressionistic painting on the same scale. The pictures are phases of a complex campus life; a life of different buildings, students, moods and thoughts. A span of time is covered to erect a document to serve as only a part, to be enriched and enlarged by each student's own history.

The following fifteen pages contain an impression done in words and pictures.

ROLOGUE

... As the campus lifts her darkened face to the sun, shadows slowly begin to recede. A groping hand reaches out for the alarm clock; trees and buildings are sketched against the dusky skyline of New York.

Sleepy commuters climb into familiar cars. Then parking lots begin to fill; the snack bar becomes a haven for coffee and conversation. A few stragglers are tacking and untacking notes perpetually spattered on the bulletin board. Alone in the company of friends, there is time for thought of the beauty of a day just beginning.

The sudden intrusion of the bell sends groggy heads scurrying to distant parts of the campus. Corridors swell, and empty rooms become fonts of knowledge. The patio, with its quiet and majestic view of the valley, offers an asylum from the clamor of a busy day.

Smooth macadam roads wind silently around trees and shrubs, encompassing the amphitheatre, with its stage of earth. In the distance, the smoke stack towers over the arena where players sweat for Saturday's game.

There are many things to remember: the joy received from a job well done, the tenseness and loneliness which seemed to creep in about exam time, the hope for a successful year which hides under the laughter and despair of the registration line, the frenzy of campus elections, the crowds at carnival time, the excitement of a pep rally—all belong to the stream of activity which is the college's life.

Sometimes the campus extends beyond its boundaries. Homecoming is one such occasion: the procession of floats led by the Campus Queen, returns from Upper along Valley Road to circle the field triumphantly before judges and spectators; the game is about to begin.

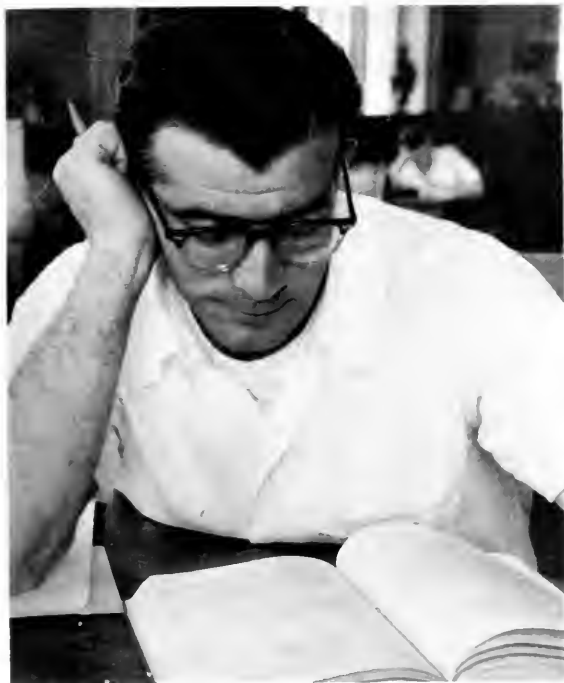

Stacks, shelves, books, hush us to silence and thought. As the students cross and re-cross her paths, the campus becomes alive, clamorous, gay. Late afternoon finds the hustle and bustle of classes, the serenity of study, the birth of extra curricular life. With the darkness come scattered lights, muted voices, and the promise of a day near end.

The sun sinks behind the hills and night pulls its cover over the buildings, but activities never cease: the lobby fills with quietly boisterous theatre goers, students are preparing for an exam, a homecoming project, a carnival booth, the year's variety show. Far into the night, from Russ Hall to Stone Hall, the lights glow, and night turns into day . . .

CLASS HISTORY

The class of 1958 has had a grand and worthwhile history. We can recall the freshman float that won first prize, the sophomore semi-formal, the junior dinner dance, even the numerous social activities of this, our senior year. These are the pleasant moments which will become even more pleasurable in our minds year after year. However, those events which were not as tangible or momentary are the ones which will continue to grow and become more rewarding in actuality.

If Montclair has achieved her goal for us, and if the history of our class has been directed by the very purpose of our school, then let us remember the precious times when Montclair instilled in us a little enthusiasm, or the times when she challenged our imaginations, or the times when we found ourselves able to crystallize our individual thoughts. For this is how we really spent four of the most dynamic years of our lives.

There will always be nostalgia associated with our confused, exuberant and probing undergraduate days, with the campus itself and with its people—collectively and individually. In the future, though, when we confidently set out upon some new and thought-provoking project without the involvements of a grade or last-minute cramming, our memories of Montclair will take on a new significance.

For the benefit of ourselves and for the benefit of our students, we must remember the really important things. The real values of college will cause us to look forward, and only sometimes backward, to a composite of football games, fraternities and sororities, transient friendships or those special events, even though they were of utmost importance at the time.

Let us continue from the enlightenment accrued at Montclair to strive for fulfillment both as individuals and as teachers; and then Montclair State, and the Class of 1958, can both justify pride in their history.

WHO'S WHO

It is well to pause in our climb upward and give credit to those who have achieved leadership among us. These seniors, so honored, have been chosen to represent Montclair in WHO'S WHO IN AMERICAN COLLEGES and UNIVERSITIES. Students are elected by a campus nominating committee and are judged on their outstanding effort, extra-curricular activities, services to the school, as well as their academic achievement.

MONTCLAIR OPENS NEW THEATER

With the stage manager's cries of "the house is open," "curtain in fifteen minutes," and "places and quiet on stage please!", the Memorial Auditorium was officially open for business on May 16, 1957. An appreciative audience of "first nighters" saw Players, under the direction of Mr. L. Howard Fox, star Joan Sullivan, James Andrews and Charles Richter in a sensitive production of Thornton Wilder's prize-winning classic, "Our Town."

Our short but distinctive first season ended delightfully with the Opera Workshop's presentation of Gilbert and Sullivan's comic operetta, "The Mikado." Loud applause greeted the cast as they humorously capered before two very pleased audiences.

The year 1957 saw two long cherished dreams become reality for Montclair with the opening of our spacious new theater in May, and the installation of our 3,500 pipe Memorial Organ. Virgil Fox, a world renowned artist, "pulled out all the stops" and gave us a brilliant indication of the organ's magnificent capabilities at the Dedication Concert in November.

However, it was the theater with its big stage, new scene shop, and wonderfully equipped lighting and control rooms that satisfied our most pressing needs. In replacing a cramped little playhouse, it saved actors from such forced inconveniences as exiting through rear windows and making costume changes behind scenery.

After three months of inactivity and darkness during the summer, the stage lights again blazed on, as the Commuters Revue '57 went into rehearsal for its third annual production. The Memorial Auditorium again became the thing for which it was conceived and constructed: a shelter and showcase for the arts. The commuters presented their varied and enjoyable revue with considerable success. However, once the show's scenery had been "struck" on closing night, Players, again under the direction of Mr. Fox, broke out the hammers and saws, the screw drivers and stage braces and began working on the biggest project thus far in their history. After a long period of secrecy, the project was finally revealed to be Arthur Miller's "The Crucible."

A powerful bit of "drama—Americana," "The Crucible" called for the construction of four movable and semi complete sets and posed lighting problems never before encountered by Players. All problems were successfully solved and "The Crucible" was presented as the second offering of the 1957 season. For three nights, large audiences enjoyed the performances of Carol Giezen danner, Nancy Elting, Charles Richter and James Andrews, all members of the class of '58. Thus, Montclair had been given for the first time in its history, a play produced in the strictest traditions of the professional theater; from flown scenery and unique playbills to box office sales and usherettes tastefully dressed in black. Our "house of arts" had reached maturity in less than one year's existence.

The Montclair State grid squad, under new head coach Ray Yagiello and assistants Carl Taubner and Ron Armengol, went through a rebuilding season in 1957, and finished with a 3-4 won-lost record. Big Red won all their away games, but suffered four defeats on home grounds.

The Indians opened their season at home against a very strong Brackport eleven and were beaten, 20-7. The National Aggies shut out Montclair in the next game, 14-0. Big Red then traveled to Cheyney and had little trouble winning, 27-13. In the next game, on Homecoming Day, New Britain beat us, 33-9 for the Indians third loss. Gallaudet College of Washington, D.C. became MSTC's victim by a 6-0 score. The next tilt, probably the most significant of the season, saw the Indians beat Trenton State for the third year in a row, this time by a 7-6 score, as Jack Speary's extra point provided the margin of victory. Kutztown ruined the Indians chances for a winning season by pinning a 14-7 loss on them.

The Indians were faced with injuries at crucial moments this year and were forced to change the lineup for each game. The fine line play of Co-captain Art Scavane, who was voted the most valuable lineman and most valuable player on the squad, was an invaluable asset to the team. Al Ralston, who was voted the squad's best back, led the team in yardage gained by rushing, and was also tied for scoring honors with Tony Bottone. The remainder of the scoring was divided among backs, Jerry Carroll, Ron Knepper, Manny Scrofani, John Petrazzino, and senior end, Harvey Gibbs. Jack Speary, another senior, was Big Red's "toe," converting five of seven extra points. Freshman "Chick" Muccia boated the other two points after touchdowns. Another aggressive senior on the team was Co-captain Bart DiPaola, who played alternately at guard and tackle.

Because only four out of twenty-nine lettermen will be lost through graduation, the prospects for next year seem promising.

BASKETBALL

Montclair State's varsity basketball team finished the 1956-57 cage season with a 13-11 win-loss record for a .542 percentage. There were a great number of important victories during this campaign, including a 67-59 defeat of Upsala College. In the past, Big Red had been having trouble beating Upsala, but this time the Indians outplayed the East Orangites for Coach Hank Schmidt's first victory against Upsala. Panzer College was also defeated for the first time under Coach Schmidt, 62-59. The Indians other victories included double trouncings of Cheyney, Newark State and single victories over Newark Rutgers, NCE and Paterson State.

Only one veteran was lost due to graduation in June as the majority of the squad was made up of freshmen and sophomores.

Last year's squad was led by Clem Tennaro, who averaged 18 points per game and led the club in rebounding. The next seven men in the scoring column included four freshmen and three sophomores. Five-foot-eight-inch Nick Petti, pumped in 13.5 points per game and was by far the best defensive player on the squad. The remainder of the boys in order of total points scored were: Bill Toole, Eddie Topar, John Hughes, John Shymanski, Jim Conroy and Kerry Davis. The rest of the varsity squad included juniors George Alicknavitch, Harvey Gibbs, John Leonard and Dennis Mamchur.

This year, with all these boys having gained more experience playing together, Big Red faced a larger schedule including two extra games against Glassboro Teachers in the newly formed NJSTCAC, New Jersey State Teachers College Athletic Conference, which includes all the teachers colleges in the state. Also included on this year's schedule was a single game against Fairleigh Dickinson University, which made the schedule an altogether rougher one. However, the new conference is completely separate from the NJIAC to which Montclair State had belonged to in the past. Because of this new conference MSTC was forced to drop out of the NJIAC, which included Panzer, Bloomfield and Newark Rutgers.

Since all our ballplayers have a few more years to play at Montclair, the MSTC basketball squads should develop into greater threats as the years progress, and should, in the future, come up with fine records to prove their promising ability.

BASEBALL

Montclair State Teachers College's baseball team, behind the strong pitching of southpaw Larry Ennis and timely hitting of Jack Speary and Nick Petti, finished the 1957 diamond season with a winning record of 15 wins and 11 defeats.

Coach Bill Dioguardi, faced with very few returning veterans, took his boys on the annual southern trip. The team returned with two wins and one loss. They continued in fine fashion with a victory over Fairleigh Dickinson University. A mid-season 1-0 victory over Upsala College made the Indian's won-lost record 9-6. With the end of the season drawing near, the club notched the last two games in the win column for another fine season.

Co-captain Jack Speary led the team in batting with a hefty .374 average. He was followed by Nick Petti, who hit at a .304 clip and also led the club in other major batting departments. Larry Ennis finished at .301, while Jack Davies, the team's other Co-captain, was next at .294 and Bill Utter followed at .280. Larry Ennis, the iron-man of the pitching staff, led the Indian chuckers with nine victories as against five setbacks.

Errors hurt the team consistently throughout the year. Except for third-sacker Joe "Pork" Pocaro, who had but four errors in over one hundred chances, and a few others, the club was continually being troubled by this problem.

This club will have many returning lettermen who should prove to be the basis for this year's team. Coach Dioguardi can certainly smile and expect a better record, although his teams have never had a losing season.

TRACK

The MSTC track and field team was well represented in all of the large indoor track games in the East, including four meets in Madison Square Garden and the Philadelphia Inquirer Games. The high point in the indoor season was the winning of second place in the nineteen-member Collegiate Track Conference indoor championships. Russ Clarke and Carl Steller won individual championships in the pole vault and 35-pound weight, respectively. The mile relay team, composed of Fred Puhfuerst, Paul Parasugo, Vinnie Korfmann, and Jean Poquette, saw action in nearly all of the indoor meets.

In the spring outdoor track season, the Montclair Indians compiled a 6 and 2 dual meet record (losing to West Chester and East Stroudsburg) and also competed in four relay carnivals and championship meets. Once again they won the NJAC Championships, while they made creditable showings in the other meets. No new school records were set during the season, but the following members of the squad had very successful seasons: all-around high point man Rick Richter, school record holding pole vaulter Russ Clarke, broad jumper John Leonard, sprinter Leonard Chill, weight man Luis Perez, high jumper Huston Robinson, 440 man Jean Poquette, middle distance runner Walt Viet, and the following very promising freshmen: Fred Puhfuerst, Paul Parasugo, Vinnie Korfmann, Bill Shatwell, John Kleva, John Pietrawicz and Phil Boradynka.

CROSS COUNTRY

With the graduation of all of the top runners from the previous year's outstanding cross country team, the Indians might very well have been on the spot had it not been for an unusually fine crop of freshmen. Led by Fred Puhlfuerst, who was undefeated in dual meet competition, the Montclair harriers won half of their meets, including the freshman championship at the LeMayne College Invitational meet at Syracuse. Behind Puhlfuerst were Paul Parasugo, Arnold Aronowitz, Ray Pye, Bill Shotwell, Al Kausch, Jahn Pietrowicz, Bob Verrone, Al Goss, Jeon Poquette and Leonard Chill, all of whom won their varsity letters.

WOMEN'S TRACK

The women's track team was organized for the first time in November of 1956, and their first season proved to be a very successful one. In their initial year, the relay team made three appearances in Madison Square Garden, and brought home runner-up laurels twice. The MSTC Women's Track Team later appeared in the Third Annual Metropolitan Womens College Track and Field Championships and ended the day with 34 points to their credit, while the second place team posted a total of only 16½ points. This meet proved their versatility in field events as well as in running events.

1957 brought a continuation of their fine accomplishments as many more trophies and medals expanded the girls' collections. Their success in this new and uncommon medium has influenced and impressed people throughout MSTC, as well as in many of our neighboring colleges.

FENCING CLUB

The MSTC Fencing Club, under the capable coaching of Mr. Allan January, has established itself as an active participant in the inter-collegiate sports program on campus. Mr. January, after an absence of two years, returned to coach at Montclair in September 1956. Since that time, the squad has continued to grow, and more than thirty girls, who had never fenced before, have joined in the last two years.

The Montclair club is a member of the Intercollegiate Women's Fencing Association. The girls have entered meets held at other colleges in the Association, as well as the Association's championship meet held in Rochester, New York.

This year's Christmas Invitational Meet was held on our campus December 7, 1957. Participating schools included Barnard College, Brooklyn College, Fairleigh Dickinson University, Hunter College, Jersey City State Teachers College, Montclair State Teachers College, Newark State Teachers College, Paterson State Teachers College and New York University. Two Montclair fencers made fine showings by defeating all competition and entering the semi-finals.

With many of the present squad returning, and with student interest mounting, the fencing team should grow to be one of the most successful sports at Montclair.

WOMEN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

W.A.A. said "Bon Voyage" to the volley ball season with a student faculty game which ended in a one to one tie.

Tennis and softball will be offered in the coming season, and arrangements with other colleges are now under way. New members of the team offer great promise for a winning season.

THIRTY CLUB

The Thirty Club organizes the members of MSTC's varsity football team into a closely knit group. With all the players assembled for the meeting, Coach Ray Yagiello discusses techniques and performances in connection with practice and games. Coaches from the surrounding areas exchange ideas and systems with the squad.

BOWLING

The MSTC Bowling Team has entered the Eastern Intercollegiate Bowling Conference for the second consecutive year. This conference is composed of some twenty-add colleges from the metropolitan area. Last year, Montclair finished in the thirteenth spot in league competition.

The team is paced by captains Bill Utter and Lou Perez, both of whom carry high averages. They are well supported by other members of the squad, Dan Covert, Hank Gary, Ron Jackson, John Janice, Russ Macaluso, Charles Port, Lee Primiano, John Skymanski and Ron Zink. The team advisor is Mr. Otto Cordes, our College Maintenance Engineer. The matches are all held in New York City, on Sundays. Bowling is among the few sports at Montclair which are played all year long, with the season beginning in the fall and continuing into the spring. Thus for this season, the team has posted a 27-12 record.

Bowling has only recently been revived at Montclair after a lay-off of many years.

TENNIS

1958 marked the third consecutive season for the still newly organized tennis team at Montclair.

As usual, this season found Bill Terry and Bob Leonard battling it out for the number one singles position. The third singles slot was still being sought after by Fred Bednarek and Bill Malsch. This was the first time Big Red posted a winning season in the collegiate circuit. Matches were played with Fairleigh Dickinson, Panzer, Trenton State, St. Peters, Newark College of Engineering, Newark Rutgers and New Paltz.

Tennis enthusiasts who attended the matches were impressed by the aggressive play of the Indians. Terry is considered one of the finest players in the area. His splendid stroking, combined with Leonard's service and net play, won many doubles matches in the past. Malsch's strong forehand and Bednarek's cut shots lent many moments of excitement to the season's play.

This was also the year that Dr. Henry Schmidt took over the reins as coach from Dr. Seymour Ferish. The team is sincerely grateful to Dr. Ferish, who gave his time and effort to give Montclair a tennis team which had been inactive for several years.

MEN'S ATHLETIC COMMISSION

The Men's Athletic Commission consists of three faculty members and two students. The present commission includes Mr. Schmidt, Mr. Clifford, Mr. Beckwith, James Dwyer and Robert Leonard. MAC is the organization which finances all men's sports at Montclair including the intra-murals as well as the varsity program. It also presents the various awards to those who qualify at each sport.

This past November 19 MAC instituted its sports banquet to honor all fall sports. Another banquet is planned in the spring to honor all spring sports. These banquets will become annual events in future years.
